MEXICAN NEWS.—The New York papers of 1st December give late news from Mexico. A correspondent writes from Vera Cruz on 12th November as follows:

French troops are continually landing, and the number now exceeds 30,000 outside the walls of this city. Since the beginning of this month more than 9,000 have been encamped. Many of them who have been attacked with intermittent fever are leaving continually for the hospitals. The ravages caused by sickness may be understood from the following fact: Gen. Forey, when he left here for Orizaba, took with him 800 infantry and an escort of hussars. He left a portion of them sick at Tejeria and at Cordova, and at last arrived at Orizaba with only 400 men. Conceive what it must be here with so many thousand men, who expose themselves to the sun, are negligent about the water and indulge in drinking.

Gen. Forey in his passage through Cordova had Marquez's soldiers formed in line, made them a long harangue and offered not only to feed but to clothe them, for which purpose he said he brought with him 20,000 uniforms. His entrance into Orizaba was imposing. He was accompanied by the French Gens. Lorencez, Douai and the Mexican Gens. Almonte, Haro and many others so called, without armies, who are stopping there. The municipality invited him to a banquet, and in his toast he said that he did not come to Mexico to shed blood nor in quest of glory, that he had seen 35 years of service and 25 campaigns, in which he had had more glory than he needed, that he only came to put down an unjust Government, which was not the real representation of the national will, and that his mission was one of peace, etc.

Gen. Lorencez took leave of the troops two days before Forey arrived.

The expedition which was to have left Vera Cruz for Tampico had not been carried into effect according to the latest news received from Havana, on account of the lowness of the water on the bar, but it had not been abandoned and will ultimately be prosecuted by land and sea.

According to the Diario de la Marina, operations will not be commenced before the beginning of next month, when they will be undertaken on a grand scale against Mexico and Puebla, the French troops advancing in two columns and by different roads. The want of means of transport, united to the bad state of the roads, makes this delay inevitable.

The news of the occupation of Jalapa by Gen. Berthier has been confirmed. The force that pretended to defend the National bridge was driven from it in a few moments, and, as mentioned in a former account, their chief was taken prisoner and sent to Martinique.

It is reported, says the Diario, that the French Government has made arrangements to occupy the State of Sonora by a division of 8,000 men.

NEWS FROM SOUTHERN SOURCES.—The Richmond Enquirer of November 29th, contains the following in relation to Gen. Sigel and Stonewall Jackson:

Sigel's retreat from Manassas and Centerville towards Alexandria and Washington is very puzzling to his admirers and claquers. They imagine all possible reasons of strategy in their endeavors to account for it. But the explanation is simple. It is Sigel's prime aim and mission to keep out of Jackson's way. The appearance of a few of Jackson's scouts was accepted by Sigel as an indication that it was time for him to start, and thereupon he and those that "fights mit Sigel" ran like men. He, of course, deserves credit for his success in escaping. Let his friends take the hint and praise him accordingly.

The same paper, of the same date, contains a notice of the appointment of a new rebel Secretary of War:

James A. Seddon of Goochland county, (Va.,) has been appointed Secretary of War, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of General W. C. Randolph.

While Seddon has not been a great deal in public position, he has always borne a high reputation for ability and sagacious statesmanship. It will be remembered that Seddon was one of the Commissioners sent by the Virginia Legislature to attend the Peace Conference in Washington near the close of Buchanan's administration. He represented the Richmond district in the United States Congress from 1845 to 1847, and from 1849 to 1851.

The Raleigh (N. C.) Standard, of November 25th, contains the following:

The general impression seems to be that the Legislature will adopt the recommendation of Governor Vance to raise 10,000 troops for State defense. No plan for raising them has yet been matured, but it is more than probable that volunteers will be called for between the ages of 18 and 45.

Col. McRae, formerly Consul to Paris, and recently Commander of the Sixth Regiment North Carolina Volunteers, has resigned his commission on the ground that "consistent with his sense of dignity and self respect he could no longer serve the Government of the Confederate States."

On the subject of the salt supply, the Charleston (S. C.) Courier of November 24th, says:

An immense bed of rock salt, affording an apparently inexhaustible supply, has been accidentally discovered at Apinlaka, Alabama. Governor Pickens has received a telegraphic dispatch offering to contract to supply the State with any amount to be delivered at Augusta at [illegible].

Governor Letcher has issued a lengthy proclamation relative to the distribution of salt throughout the State of Virginia.

G. W. Randolph, late rebel Secretary of War, is [illegible] Governor of Virginia and Gov. Letcher will take the place of Senator Preston, deceased.

MONDAY MORNING JAN 18 1863

Something new about the Rector Affair

In spite of the belief of a certain school of politicians that the people have no business to inquire about the doings of the Federal officials in our midst, we take the liberty of bringing the Rector affair before the public in a new light In doing so we appeal to the entire record of this paper in relation to its dealings with this matter, to attest that what we have said, and may say is solely on account of the public interest If the whole story could be told, or is ever told, additional proofs of this fact will be shown To commence, we put in a communication which is entirely impersonal, that has been handed to us, on this subject

Editor Oregonian

Seeing that Mr Rector according to his "explanation," exchanged his draft for $73 000 on the Assistant Treasurer with Ladd & Tilton for Legal Tender to be paid him in Portland where, may I ask, was the necessity of his going down to San Francisco to personally superintend the drawing of these funds? Did he go in his official capacity, or merely as an agent of his agents, the bankers? If the former what corresponding advantage or profit did the Government reap for his outlay of two or three hundred dollars for traveling expenses to and from California? Mr R. says. "I made this exchange at a time when it was well known to every business man (!) that they had been and were paying at the Sub Treasury in Legal Tender"

If this is literally true then Messrs Ladd & Tilton deserve great credit for their liberality in accommodating the Superintendent with greenbacks, deliverable in Portland without charge or commission, for, IF THEY EXPECTED to be paid in like currency in San Francisco, they were certainly subjecting themselves to a very considerable loss, AS LEGAL TENDERS HAVE ALWAYS BEEN WORTH FROM FIVE TO SEVEN CENTS ON THE DOLLAR LESS THERE, THAN IN PORTLAND

Trusting Mr Rector will not consider that the foregoing queries are prompted by a captious spirit, but rather by a desire to elicit facts in the premises, I remain,

Very respectfully yours,
"AN HONEST MAN"

Portland, Jan 16th, 1863

We have here a singular contradiction of the generally received opinion that financiers are actuated by a desire of gain, and a proof that, in a quarter entirely unexpected, there was a patriotic banking house which willingly sacrificed from five to seven per cent. on a vast sum of money to accommodate an ungrateful public—a public that is proverbially ungrateful—a public that repays a kindness of this nature by accusations of a very serious character The Romans and Greeks gave to mankind many illustrious examples of patriotic devotion, but none which surpassed this, the heroes of the Revolution had a patriotic financier one Robert Morris, but he was but the small part of an infinitesimal "shakings" whittled down to a point, when compared to our city banking firm. Of course Mr Rector could do no less than to go to San Francisco and receive the money, or a part of it, there, after Messrs Ladd & Tilton had lost so much by the exchange Some people will be curious to know what business he had to do so at the expense of the Government, but they are informed that it is none of their business. Of course Mr Rector agreed to receive the money in San Francisco to accommodate the accommodating bankers, and if they happened to get gold from the Sub Treasurer that was their luck, was "perfectly legitimate" and as Mr Rector did not seek to know what currency the agent of Messrs Ladd & Tilton drew the $73,000 in, he is perfectly innocent of making a dollar out of the matter The Government is also safe, as the contracts of the Indian Department were made with the understanding that greenbacks would be paid by the Superintendency As a reward of merit to all parties interested in this speculation we recommend the erection of statues to perpetuate the memory of each, and claim as an original idea that those statues should be cast in brass But enough of walking in the dark, when we have light on the subject, proof that should damn the last one of the persons connected with this most nefarious swindle to the last moment of recorded time, in the eyes of every honest man

We distinctly charge, and will put in proof if required, the following facts

First,—That as far back as the 20th of November, it was published in newspapers in this State, that the U S Sub-Treasury at San Francisco was paying Government drafts in gold coin, as the greenbacks were exhausted Consequently, if any "business man" in this city did not know it, it was his own fault; and if Mr Rector did not know it, he did not want to know it

Second,—That Wm S Ladd resident partner of the house of Ladd & Tilton did say, previous to the arrival of Mr Rector from Salem, on his road to San Francisco that he had written to Mr Rector, notifying him that the Sub-Treasury was paying gold on Government drafts, and advised Mr Rector to send his draft for $73 000 more or less by a certain gentleman of this city to San Francisco for collection

Mr Rector came down from Salem and went to San Francisco for no particular purpose, if he tells the truth, and his draft for $ 000 was paid to him solely in coin Mr Rector has paid out greenbacks in the settlement of his accounts with the people of this community From the antecedent charges and these circumstances we charge

Thirdly,—That somebody has made the difference between $73 000 in greenbacks and that sum in gold and that the same has been dishonestly withdrawn from the resources of the nation and that it has gone into the hands of parties having no right to possess it to the detriment of the currency of the country and the loss of the nation and the community

We characterize this proceeding as plain robbery and demand that such punishment as the law can inflict upon all concerned shall be meted out to them For the entire purity of our intentions in making these statements and charges we appeal to the intelligent decision of the people

Miscellaneous Paragraphs

The Pacific says that the President has grappled with the fire ship of treason in issuing his proclamation

The United States has spent over two hundred thousand dollars nearly all under the Buchanan Administration in litigating about land claims in California

A Frenchman recently described Paris as a French city where men sometimes pass away the evenings with other men's wives never with their own

The National Intelligencer denies that Gen McClellan had peremptory orders on the 6th of October last to advance and attack the enemy They were only discretionary

The assembly at Richmond calling itself the Congress of the Confederate States of America, enacted that every male adult who owned twenty slaves should be exempt from military service

It is now said that Gen Frank Patterson committed suicide under a delusion that he had been charged with cowardice by a superior officer He was undoubtedly partially insane

A sincere conservative Unionist says that all attempts of our misguided Southern brethren to unconstitutionally establish a separate Confederacy, should be "Constitutionally" frowned down but great care should be taken not to irritate them in so doing.

The army of Austria consists of 738 344 men of Prussia 719 992, of Russia 850 000 of France 629,000 of Great Britain and India, 534,828 of Denmark Sweden Spain Portugal and Italy 305 497 making a total of 3 771,760 men

A meeting was lately held in Boston, at which it was proposed to apply the "compensation principle" in favor of the negroes who have been slaves They are to have pay for all the time in which they were in slavery Between paying the owners for the slaves, and the slave for past oppression, white people will have but little left to call their own

Francis Carroll, an alleged British subject, arrested during the Maryland difficulties was again sent, December 8th, to Fort Lafayette, by Marshal Murray Carroll had once been confined in the fort but was taken out upon representations that he was a British subject and would give bonds to leave the country The British Consul refused to aid him, and the bonds not forthcoming, Carroll was again sent to Fort Lafayette to await the final release of all these troublesome customers

CROSSING UNDER COVER—The Fredericksburg correspondence of the New York Times, dated the 11th of December gives a description of the cannonade under which the pontoon bridges were thrown across the Rappahannock

At ten o'clock General Burnside gives the order, "Concentrate the fire of all your guns on the city and batter it down!" You may believe they were not loth to obey The artillery on the right—eight batteries—was commanded by Colonel Hays Colonel Tompkins, right center—eleven batteries—Colonel Tyler left center—seven batteries Captain DeRussey, left—nine batteries In a few moments these thirty five batteries forming a total of one hundred and seventy nine guns ranging from ten-pounder Parrotts to four and a half inch siege guns posted along the convex side of the arc of the circle, formed by the bend of the river and land opposite Fredericksburg, opened on the doomed city The effect was, of course, terrific and regarded merely as a phenomenon, was among the most awfully grand conceivable Perhaps what will give you the liveliest idea of its effect is a succession, absolutely without intermission, of the very loudest thunder peals It lasted thus for upward of an hour fifty rounds being fired from each gun and I know not how many tons of iron were thrown into the town The congregated Generals were transfixed Mingled satisfaction and awe was upon every face But what was tantalizing was that, though a great deal could be heard, nothing could be seen, the city being still enveloped in fog and mist Only a denser pillar of smoke, defining itself on the background of the fog indicated where the town had been fired by our shells Another and another column showed itself, and we presently saw that at least a dozen houses must be on fire Toward noon the curtain rolled up, and we saw that it was indeed so Fredericksburg was in conflagration

TO THE POINT—Gen Henry A Wise recently wrote to Gen E D Keyes, of our forces, in relation to the Virginia State Insane Asylum at Williamsburg which is inside of our lines The correspondence was racy and the more so as there is a remarkable fitness in Henry A Wise writing about Insane Asylums in one of which it would have been well for him to be imprisoned any time in the last ten years We copy a synopsis of the correspondence:

General Wise assumes that these unfortunates were cruelly treated by the Union officers and makes complaint of the same appealing to the commiseration of Gen Keyes to pay respect to those "charities and afflictions so sacred that States and God can only deal with them with proper care and such as are always kept safe from all intrusion" and in behalf of Virginia, speaking for "her little ones" to no lower authority than that of Heaven to Christianity General Keyes replies that no harm was done or intended to be done, to the inmates of the Asylum, but that on the contrary every comfort was extended to them by our Surgeons and other officers and he adds In regard to the arbitrament of that high tribunal to which you refer Heaven shield us Who knows which deserves the greater pity the poor lunatic in the Asylum at Williamsburg or the men who have made the war?

EDITOR OREGONIAN

The joint convention for the election of Territorial officers convened to-day at 11 o'clock and succeeded in electing the following named gentlemen George A Barnes Public Printer R M Walker the present incumbent Territorial Auditor William Cock, Treasurer and J C Head Librarian The business for which it had assembled having been completed the convention adjourned sine die The great agony is over, the question next who is or who shall be public printer, is definitely settled for one year at least.

The following bills were introduced in the House to day By Mr Fletcher,—an act to divorce Mr Stout and wife by Mr Chase—an act to regulate fees and costs in the county of Walla Walla by Mr Potter,—an act to authorize W Van Schuyver to establish a ferry across the Columbia river at or near Vancouver privilege granted for two years and no more Several bills from the Council received their first reading An act increasing and defining the jurisdiction in the Probate Courts, read twice and made the special order for consideration to morrow. This is a very important measure especially to the upper or mining sections of the Territory The bill gives to the Probate Courts certain concurrent jurisdiction with the District Courts but not having seen a copy of the bill so as to examine it closely, I cannot speak definitely of its features

There were no bills introduced in the Council to-day, and none passed The only business being the consideration of some reports from standing committees, prior to going into joint convention After the adjournment of the joint convention both Houses adjourned to meet to morrow at the usual hour

Scarcity of Legal Tender Notes.

The following, which we clip from an exchange, accounts for the scarcity of legal tender notes in the Atlantic cities, which was reported to have occurred a short time since

The above fact, which to some will hardly be credible, was brought out by the late negotiation of $15,000,000 7 30 Treasury or war loan notes in the Atlantic cities — It will be remembered that Secretary Chase advertised for bids for this loan to be sent to the Treasury Department within a period of five days accompanied by a deposit of ten per cent of the amount bid for, the whole to be paid in legal tender notes — Almost immediately after issuing this advertisement, the Secretary applied to the banks and leading capitalists for a temporary loan of $12,000,000 to be made up at once and to be reimbursed out of the proceeds of the 7 30's advertised for sale — The natural presumption was, that the exigencies of Government would not admit of delay of even five or six days

By some parties the Secretary was much censured for the course pursued by him in this matter, as savoring of sharp practice, or, at least, of injudicious and unreasonable trifling with important interests It being evident from the popularity of the 7 30's that the amount bid for would be largely in excess of the amount offered, and that every bidder would seek to provide himself with a sufficient sum of the required currency to cover his bid, or at least to cover the deposit of ten per cent, thus creating a sudden and very active demand for legal tenders, it was imagined by these parties, that the design of the Secretary, in applying for the temporary loan of $12,000,000, was to corner the market, and show the superiority of his own fiscal policy of legal tender issues, over the plan of negotiating loans proposed by leading financiers It was even hinted that friends of his might have received information in advance in regard to this sudden and unexpected movement, enabling them to reap substantial profits from it on the Stock Exchange — The call for $12,000,000 pending a negotiation which was to terminate in five days, was regarded as unnecessary, and the reason assigned for it—army payments—as unsatisfactory and improbable, in view of the deliberation with which Government usually acts in such cases, five days delay in the cancelling of claims upon it being an event of no unusual occurrence, unless, indeed, on the score of unusual brevity

The consequence of the negotiation, or perhaps we should say, of the hasty manner in which it was pressed upon the market, were, an immediate contraction of loans, and an unusual stringency of money, causing the sacrifice of collaterals, and in short, quite a panic in stocks—the decline, according to the N Y World, being equivalent to $75,000,000, and as every applicant is presumed to have provided or endeavored to provide against the contingency of an acceptance of his offer, it will be readily seen that the disturbance in the money market was not without adequate cause, indeed, the wonder is that it was no greater, especially in view of the fact alluded to in the commencement of these remarks, namely an absolute deficiency of legal tender notes of the required denominations in the Atlantic cities beyond the amount necessary for the bank reserves Had the Secretary given ten days time for the bidding the whole amount required could have been taken from his own vaults upon certificates of deposite bearing 4 per cent interest, and the opportunity to convert 4 per cent stock into 7 30 is one of those occasions not usually neglected in Wall street But the time was limited to five days, and the loan of $12,000,000 was required at once It was found extremely difficult, under these circumstances, to procure legal tenders for this temporary loan, and had it really been the object of the Secretary to corner the market, it would seem that he could scarcely have done it more effectually

The New York Herald, speaking of the advocates of a further issue of an irredeemable paper currency, says —"We have now 800,000 soldiers in the field, whom we have hired at the wages of $13 a month If Congress, by injudicious financial manœuvres, and by further issues of irredeemable paper, should make those $13 only equal in "purchasing power" to $6 or $7, it will be a fraud on the army which the soldiers will not be slow to discover If the gallant men who are fighting our battles in Virginia, Tennessee, South Carolina and the Gulf, discover that by the mismanagement of Congress the wages which they were promised only in fact amount to half as much as they appeared at the time of their enlistment, the result will be an amount of dissatisfaction, which may assume alarming proportions. When these soldiers learn that, owing to the legislation of Congress, their $13 a month only purchases as much food and clothing as $7 would have done when they enlisted they will have valid grounds of complaint which some ambitious commander may turn to his own account It will not answer for Congress to trifle with 800,000 armed men History is full of examples of such attempts, but we shall vainly search its record for an instance in which the attempt was successful, though there are many in which such legislative blunders as are now mooted have led to the establishment of military despotisms"

EDITOR OREGON FARMER —The steamer Pacific arrived the 23d inst., bringing about 3200 boxes of apples The market was almost entirely bare of apples previous to this arrival, which, with the demand for the holidays, caused an advance over the sales of the previous steamer Sales ranged from 4½ to 8c Only three or four invoices went above 6½c, and those were of the very best quality and condition in every respect

GENERAL BAYARD —The following is a short sketch of the life of the brilliant cavalry officer Gen Bayard, who was killed at Fredericksburg on the 13th of December last in the gallant but ill-fated attack on the enemy's lines behind that place

Brigadier General George D Bayard the gallant cavalry officer of [illegible] army has been killed He was a native of New York and was appointed a cadet in the West Point Military Academy in 1852 He graduated on the 30th of June 1856 and on the 1st of July, 1856 was appointed a Second Lieutenant of the First United States Cavalry On the 20th of August 1861 he was promoted to a captaincy of his regiment, now known as the Fourth United States Cavalry He was allowed leave of absence to take the command of the First Pennsylvania Cavalry and in General Orders No 1?6 Washington June 10th he is announced as a Brigadier General of Volunteers commanding cavalry He has made several brilliant cavalry dashes both before and since his appointment as General and being but a young man gave promise of great military ability in the future — His loss will be much regretted by his many friends. He is said to have been betrothed to a lovely young lady General Bayard was wounded in the face by a poisoned arrow by Indians on the frontier from the effects of which he had never recovered, and which his physicians predicted would ultimately cause his death He often expressed a determination never to die from that cause if he could be in the battles of his country He has met the fate and secured the fame he coveted

Proclamation by the Governor

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, PORTLAND OREGON }
January 6 1863 }

By the President of the United States through Brigadier General George Wright, commanding the Department of the Pacific, and Brigadier General Benjamin Alvord commanding the District of Oregon, I have been requested to raise six additional companies required to complete the 1st Regiment of Cavalry Oregon Volunteers They will be needed the coming Spring on the frontiers of this State and Washington Territory and for an expedition against the Snake Indians, who have so long been mercilessly engaged in robbing emigrants and murdering our fellow-citizens I cannot doubt that the citizens of Oregon, who have always promptly responded to any demand for their military services will in like manner respond to this call, thereby showing their loyalty to the Government and aiding in chastising marauding bands of Indians which infest our frontiers

The enlisted men, when mounted, will be supplied with horses by the United States it being understood that they will be mounted in such manner as shall be deemed advisable by the Government

Propositions to raise a whole company, which will furnish their own horses and horse equipments may be entertained The men are in such cases entitled to forty cents a day for the use and risk of their horses and horse equipments

Each company will consist of one hundred enlisted men, and when mustered into the service of the United States to serve for three years, unless sooner discharged

Recruiting offices will be immediately opened at Portland Dalles City, and perhaps at other places By the Governor
